THE steamer Waimanalo rounded Diamond Head Thursday afternoon, gaily decked with bunting, bringing a full load of sugar and a variety of ti leaves, maile and other overgreens, expressly for the lucu on Saturday.

Some very fine grapes cuttings, well rooted, were received by Mr. Herbert—ex City of New York—this week, and set out in his Kalihi Valley farm. The varieties are choice, and Mr. Herbert has a few roots of each kind to spare. In our report of the Coronation Ball, the names of the captains and officers of the men-of-war in harbor were inadvertently omitted from the list of gue ts. They will appear in full in to-morrow's weekly issue of the P. C. ADVERTISES. THE themes of Mr. Cruzan's sermons Sunday,

On Sunday afternoon, between the hours of half-past three and five o'clock, the Post-office box No. 175, and the property of the Rev. H. H. Parker was forced open by some unknown person. Whether or not any matter was abstracted, has not been but a considerable amount of correspondence was left in the box after the foul deed CAPTAIN SEARS of the Kilauea Hou informs us that the brig Pomare lying in Kahului harbor last Sunday, parted her cable in a very heavy ground swell that had set in to the harbor, and there being no wind she was lifted over the coral reef and ashore on to the sands. She is a total wreck; she had a part load of sugar that was lost with her. The vessel was insured. WE are glad to welcome back to Honolulu, Bishop Willis of the Anglican Church of Hawaii. The Bishop looks wonderfully recuperated and in good spirits. He informs us that an interesting vent occurred on board the steamer when two days out; a little girl being born to the wife of one of the passengers, Mrs. Wilson. The Bishop christened her Annie Pacific Searle Wilson. THE overdue mail steamer caused no anxiety or uneasy apprehensions, as in the case of the Suez-known to have sailed on a certain date, but it certainly caused inconvenience to passengers bound who had to remain on the qui rive an inlimited number of days. The delay of the overland mail was the cause, the non-arrival of the

MR. FURNEAUX has on exhibition a painting of the Coronation, that gives an excellent idea of the brilliant appearance of the pageant at the moment when the King placed the crown upon his head. The variety and brightness of the colors displayed in every part of the assemblage, as well as the decorations, is fairly bewildering; and the surrounding rainbow hues finely set off the pure white of His Majesty's superb uniform. From this pic-ture and other studies made by the same artist, we hope to see a grand historical picture made. THE shore battery fired a salute of twenty-one guns at noon Thursday in honor of Washington's memory. During the evening, the band gave a omplimentary concert to His Excellency R. M. Daggett, U. S. Minister Resident. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, there was a goodly gathering on the Hotel yerandah, to all of whom Mr. Daggett extended a welcome in his accustomed manner. These timely courtesies to the Great Republic are due to the forethought of His Excellency Governor Dominis.

A FEW weeks ago, juries were appointed to consider and report on the widening of Merchant and Alakea streets. No street in this city requires to be widened so much as the first named. The publie would like to see this work undertaken at once. With regard to Alakes street, some speculator in anticipation of its being widened, has thought fit to place the foundation of his wooden structure as ose to the middle of the road as he can without blocking up the sidewalk. When the street is widened the owner of this structure will naturally look for compensation.

Amondst the recent visitors to Honolulu was Mr. J. A. Garwood, until lately proprietor of the Akaron Mail, a newspaper published in the province of Canterbury, New Zealand. This gentleman was on the staff of the first newspaper published in that part of the colony. Mr. Garwood came up at the invitation of a friend expressly to witness the Coronation. He expressed his pleasure at having witnessed the ceremony, and acknowledged having spent a very agreeable week in our capital. He returned to his home by the City of New York.

THE entries for the Coronation Races have closed and as was anticipated, owing to the conditions, they are not numerous. For the Coronation Purse, Mr. J. A. Cummins' enters Taiehu. and Mr. Frank Heustace enters Teaser. The Kalakaus and suicide, Haley's Island Chief, and Moses Ramano's Poni will compete. So far, there is only one entry for | Co. On Saturday night last, advantage was taken of the fine weather to carry out the illumination and display of fireworks that form an important feature in the Coronation festivities. The lights on Punchbowl first came in view about seven o'clock, and as the Palace was approached the glare of fire was noticeable in the heavens. Lanterns of many colors and designs were displayed around the residences of His Excellency the Premier, His Excellency the Attorney-General, Messrs. Bickerton, Smithies, and a few others, whose names our reporter failed to obtain. The fire engine houses were very handomely illuminated, the palm being given to the Bell Tower on Union street, but the greatest attraction was the Palace. There were over 4500 lights displayed in various forms and designs in the Palace grounds. The Plough, Royal Star, soldiers presenting arms, the emblems of Faith, Hope, and Charity, Masonic and Odd Fellows emblems, arches, and many other designs "too numerous to mention" were on exhibition. Rockets were fired from Punchbowl and also from the Palace grounds, and there were constantly on exhibition, Roman candles, sunflowers, wheels, palms, floral bombs, and several novelties, the whole forming tha grandest pyrotechnical exhibition ever witnessed

Four balloons were sent up, one of which took fire, two passed slowly out of sight, and the last one failed to arise beyond a very short

The Band was in attendance and added greatly to the hilarity of the proceedings. In addition to the illuminations enumerated above, the Government buildings were decorated with green, red and blue lanterns, as also were the Stationhouse and Oahu Prison. The effect of the latter as seen from the water, is said to have been very grand.

The Chairman of the Committee, Mr. J. W. Pfluger, accomplished the arduous task entrusted to him in a masterly and energetic manner, and this gentleman deserves the thanks of the whole community.

THE REGATIA.

Notwithstanding the rain, which continued to fall during the whole of Thursday afternoon, the boat-races were witnessed by a large number of spectators. Many crowded the wharf and on board the bark D. C. Murray, and the Emerald, every available position that could command a view of the races, was occupied. Before the races began, a craft resembling a dry-goods box was launched from H. B. M. S. Mutine, Its crew was dressed in a very burlesque style, and used shovels for oars, and a mock sail of coffeesacks was hoisted.

There were five entries for the yacht-race, which took place first, viz :- Restless, 7 tons ; Kahihilani, 111/2 tons; Addie, 21/2 tons; Healani, 91/4 tons; whaleboat, 1 ton. The Healani won, the time being 2 hours 53 minutes. The barge race between the Hanakeoki and the Koaheahe, of H. B. M S. Mutine, was won by the latter ; time, 29 minutes 17 seconds. The six-oared gig race between the Melia and Kapusalla, of H. B. M. S. Mutine, after a foul, was won in the second trial by the Melia; time, 19 minutes 7 seconds. THE CORONATION BALL.

The State Ball given at Iolani Palace on Tuestion with the Coronation festivities. The site of the Pavilion, in which the ceremony of Coronation was solemnized, was on Tuesday last, a scene of gaiety and enjoyment. The pavilion having been removed to the south-eastern corner of Iolani Palace, the whole space in front of the Palace from the verandah to the inner edge of amphitheatre was floored and covered with cloth, thereby constituting the most spacious and elegant ball-room ever seen in Honolulu. A pole erected in the centre of the floor, supported a covering of canvas, and this was stretched out to the roof of the amphitheatre and also to the balcony of the Palace. Entering the Palace grounds from the King street gate, carriages drew up on the town side of the entrance to the improvised ball room, the avenue being brilliantly illuminated. On alighting, the guests were received by members of His Majesty's, and His Excellency the Governor's staff, and the ladies were escorted to rooms on the first floor of the Palace, for the arrangement of their toilets. Every possible accommodation had been made for the enjoyment and comfort of the guests. Looking from the Palace stairway into the ball room, the artistic arrangement of flags, lamps and decorations, presented an extremely handsome and effective appearance. The brilliancy of the Palace vestibule caused the ball room to present rather a dull ap pearance, but this illusion was dispelled when once the floor proper was reached, the lights being so arranged that there was no glare, and at the same time sufficient glitter to display the beautiful and costly costumes of the ladies, The refreshment rooms were within the amphitheatre, as also was the spacious supper room, in which were six long tables capable of seating upwards of 500 people. Festoons of evergreens were gracefully hung around on all sides. The following was the order of the procession

On conclusion of the dance, refuge was sought on the spacious verandah of the Palace, and as the rain had apparently set in for the night, the Throne room was cleared and the band removed from the amphitheatre to the verandah. In a few minutes, everything was in order for proceeding with the programme, and the mazy measures of the dance were quickly

About midnight, His Majesty led the way to the amphitheatre where all the guests sat down to a rich and tastefully prepared supper. The tables were bountifully spread with all the good things that are obtainable. Supper over, dancing was resumed and kept up with spirit until three o'clock in the morning.

One of the noticeable features of the evening was the richness and variety of the costumes worn by the ladies, whilst amongst the sterner sex were to be seen uniforms of the American, British and French navies, of an English Hussar officer, a Belgian cavalry officer, the uniforms worn by His Excellency the Governor of Oahu and Staff, and that of the newly formed Volunteer corps. His Majesty and Suite were attired in his favorite uniform of a German officer, and His Majesty's Ministers in the new Hawaiian Court uniform. It was admitted by all present to have been the most brilliant gathering of the kind ever witnessed this Kingdom. Amongst the guests invited, most of whom were present, were: His Excellency J. O. Dominis, Governor of Oahu and Mani;

Hon, A. S. Cleghorn, Their Excellencies W. M. Gibson, J. E. Bush, J. M. Kapena, and E. Preston ; His Excellency R. M. Daggett, U. S. Minister Resident; Mons. H. European Correspondence.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT. LETTER No. 99-LONDON, Jan. 15, 1885. LITERARY .- In my last letter I referred to the appearance of Miss Gordon Cumming's new book on the Hawarian Islands. The authoress writes : For years it had been my heart's desire to visit the little Island Kingdom of Hawaii, that isolated group in the North-Eastern Pacific, where the Grilling tale of Captain Cook's voyages closed so andly end from which in the first half of the century Ellis and other enterprising travellers sent nome such marvellous accounts of volcanic action. of fountains of living fire and flaming billows, as seemed to their hearers like fairy tales .- Miss Cumming is enthusiastic about Honolulu, and her admiration is excited by the industry which has converted this place by dint of irrigation from a howling wilderness to a Llossoming paradise of tropical greenery. She writes :- " Honolulu has all the appearance of being the work of an enchanter's wand, so lovely is the casis in the parched and thirsty land that sketches to the East and West. It seems to me that all that makes this place delightful is artificial. It is purely American, idealised by imported vegetation. Certainly it is the most marvellous triumph of men over nature." The description of Kilauea is very good, and the habits of the natives, the social life and manners, the history, customs and laws of the country are interestingly described. Miss Cumming's tributes to the good work of the American and other Missions are well deserved. Her book, which has revived the interest in King Kalakaua's Kingdom, has been favorably received by the English press. A book, which must be of great interest to Hawaiian sugar planters, has just been published by E. A. N. Spon, at this place. It is entitled :-Sugar Growing and Refining: a comprehensive treatise on the Culture of Sugar-yielding Plants and the Manufacture, Refining and Analysis of Cane, Beet, Maple, Mitk, Palm, Sorghum and Starch Sugars. By Charles G. Warnford Lock, F. L. S. and G. W. Wigner and R. H. Harland, The guests commenced to arrive shortly after F. F. C. S. With opwards of 200 illustrations

The Morning Post of the 26th altimo, published a very interesting article of nearly two columns length on "Agriculture in the Sandwich Islands" from a correspondent.

HELIOGRAPHS. Henry C. Mance, of the Government Indo-European Telegraph Department, has just been appointed Companion of the Order of the Empire of India, Mr. Mance is the inventor of the heliograph, or sun telegraph, to which reference has lately been made in these letters. as a practical means of communication between the islands of the Hawaiian group, in default of submarine cables, Another successful attempt to establish heliographic connection between distant points, not telegraphically connected, has just been made in the Indian Ocean, where communication by sun telegraph has been effected between Mauritius and Reunion. These stormbeaten islands are about 120 miles apart, yet by the aid of two great telescopic heliographs of Col. Mangin's design telegraphic connection has been established between the plateau of Ponce on Mangitius and the center of Nefles nnion, the latter being 134 miles to

Some time ago I stated that a Royal Commission had been appointed to consider the present condition of affairs in the Western Pacific, with especial reference to the powers exercised by the High Commissioner, Sir Arthur Gordon, I now hear that the Commission will hold its first sittings next month, and it is not expected that any evidence will be taken. It is also reported that Lord Derby will shortly receive at the Colonial Office a deputation on the subject of the labor traffic in the Pacific. Strong evidence, tending to show that great abuses still disgrace that traffic, will be laid before the Colonial Secretary. At the same time some official correspondence relative to the High Commissioner's Court in the Western Pacific will shortly be

PERSONAL. Sir Arthur Gordon has declined the Governorship of Jamaica, which has been offered to him. Sir John Pope Hennessy has been appointed Governor of Mauritius, and Sir George F. Bowen succeeds him at Hongkong. Sir Thomas and Lady Brassey left England last month to join their yacht, the Sunbeam, at Marseilles, for a cruise in the Mediterranean. On the 11th instant, they arrived at Malta from Messina.

NAVAL AND SHIPPING, Rear-Admiral Lyons, the Commander-in-Chief on the Pacific Sation, was at Acon on December 6th, with his flagship, the Swiftsure, intending to leave on the 8th instant for Payta, Galagagos and Honolulu, thence to Esquimault. H. M. S. Mutine, Commander Edwards, was to accompany the flagship. The Sappho, Commander Clark, was expected at Coquimbo, from Honolulu, Captain Ralph P. Cator, who commanded the Scout in the Pacific in 1875, has just been promoted to flagrank. Mr. Isenberg, of Honolulu, has chartered the Bremen steamship Ehrenfels, to take out about 600 emigrants, The Ehrenfels will sail from Bremerhaven in a few days, for Honolulu direct.

"May I open the window for you, Miss?" po litely inquired a gentleman of a Plymouth Church young lady on the Northern Pacific road, as he saw her tugging at a sash that had not recovered from the preceding winter. She glared at him a moment, and gave a reluctint consent. " Folks can't be too careful who they speak to or accept favors from, she remarked after a long pause Mrs. C. Afong, and the Misses Afong, E. R. "That's very true," replied the gentleman, Adams and Miss Adams, Mr and Mrs. W. Auld, quietly. "Are you a Boston drummer?" she in-Mrs. Malcolm Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank | hotel clerk?" "No, not a hotel clerk." "I am Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barnard and Miss glad of that. I naver let a drummer or a hotel Barnard, Miss L. Brickwood, the Misses Brown, clerk speak to me. Maybe you are an actor?" exclaimed, showing her dimples, and becoming more and more confidential. "If an actor should speak to me I'd die. What is your business?" I'm a barkeeper, and I'm travelling West to get a Territorial divorce from my wife," e. slained the gentleman. "Oh, I'm so glad," giggled the girl. "Reach down my satchel; there's a hotte of whisky and a pack of cards in it. I'll play you an odd game of California Jack, for five dollars a corner. I like to meet gentlemen, and I know them when I see them. Ask that baldheaded duffer across there if he has got a corkscrew, will you? '- Chicago Herald.

I believe I daily find it proved-that we can get nothing in this world worth keeping. not so much as a principle or a conviction, except out of purifying flome, or through strengthening peril. We err-we fee!-we are humbled, then we walk more carefully. We greedily eat and drink poison out of the gilded cup of vice or from the beggar's wallet of avarice; we are sickened - degraded; everything good in us rebels against us; our souls rise bitterly indignant against our bodies—there is a period of civil war. If the soul has attempth, it conquers and rules
